season with six home games.
• Although this is Carolina's first regular-season game away from the Smith Center, the Tar Heels played USC in the Greensboro Coliseum on October 9 and Indiana in Indianapolis on October 18 in their first two preseason games.

TAR HEELS IN CHARLOTTE

• Carolina is 170-30 all-time in Charlotte, including 20-5 in the Spectrum Center, the home of the NBA's Charlotte Hornets.
• The Tar Heels have lost two straight in the Spectrum Center – a 74-71 loss to Duke in the 2025 ACC semifinals and an 80-79 loss to Clemson in the 2026 ACC quarterfinals.

UNC & WEST VIRGINIA

• The Tar Heels are 0-5 all-time vs. West Virginia, although the teams have not played since 1965, Dean Smith's fifth season as head coach.
• It is the most losses without a win against any opponent in UNC history.
• West Virginia and Army (0-3) are the only teams to be undefeated in multiple games against Carolina.
• This is the first UNC-WVU game since 12/31/1965, a 102-97 Mountaineer win at Reynolds Coliseum in Raleigh. Tom Gauntlett (28) and Larry Miller (23) were Carolina's top scorers.

LAST TIME OUT

• Carolina held Monmouth to 15 first-half points and won, 85-45, to improve to 5-1.
• Monmouth's 45 points were the fewest allowed by Carolina since a 54-44 win at Virginia on 2/24/2024.
• Carolina led 51-15 at the half. The 36-point margin tied the sixth-largest in Smith Center history.
• The 15 points by Monmouth in the first half were the fifth-fewest in a half in Smith Center history. They were the fewest since UNCG scored 13 in the first half on 12/7/2013.
• They were the fewest points allowed by UNC in any half since Virginia scored 13 in the first half in the 2022 ACC Tournament quarterfinal.
• Carolina held Monmouth to 15.6% from the floor in the first half, the second-lowest FG percentage in a half in Smith Center history (American shot 14.7% in the second half on 11/15/2024).
• Carolina shot 50.0% from the floor for the game. It was the third time this season UNC has shot 50% or better and the seventh-straight win when shooting at least 50%.

TERRENCE BROWN has scored 20 or more points four times as a Tar Heel and 40 times in his college career.

• Alex Samodurov was Carolina's defensive player of the game with nine defensive rebounds and two blocks, and he picked up three 50/50 balls. He recorded his first collegiate double-double as he finished with 10 points and a season-high 11 rebounds. He also co-led UNC in assists with a season-high three.
• Samodurov was one of eight Tar Heels with a blocked shot. Per Jody Zeugner, that was just the third time in UNC history at least eight players blocked a shot. Nine Tar Heels blocked shots against Maryland on 1/9/1991, eight had blocks vs. Duke on 3/8/2021 and eight had blocks vs. Monmouth on Monday.
• Terrence Brown led all scorers with 20 points. It was his third-straight game with 20 or more points, his fourth 20-point game of the season and the 40th in his career (in 102 games).
• Carolina outrebounded the Hawks, 42-36, halting a three-game streak in which the opponents outrebounded the Tar Heels.
• The Tar Heels forced a season-high 16 turnovers that led to 17 points.
• Carolina scored 50 points in the paint, which matched a season high (also 50 vs. Wofford).

NOTING THE TAR HEELS

• Carolina is sixth in the country (fourth among power conferences) in field goal percentage defense. The Tar Heels are holding opponents to 34.6% shooting from the floor.
• None of the six opponents have shot 40% from the floor. Georgia has shot the highest percentage against UNC this season, converting 38.6% in the Bulldogs' 80-72 win on November 13.
• In 12 halves, the Tar Heels have held the opponents below 40% 10 times with the exceptions being Marshall (42.4% in the first half) and Wyoming (40.5% in the second half).
• Georgia's win snapped a 31-game streak when the Tar Heels had won when holding opponents under 40% from the floor.

MALONE AN NBA CHAMPION
• Michael Malone was head coach of the Denver Nuggets for 10 seasons (2015-25) and the Sacramento Kings for two seasons (2013-15). The Queens, N.Y., native is Denver's all-time winningest coach in the regular season (471 wins) and playoffs (44 wins).
• Malone is the first individual to lead UNC as head coach without having played for the Tar Heels or been an assistant coach with the program since Frank McGuire took the helm in 1952. McGuire came to Chapel Hill from the head coaching ranks at St. John's. McGuire was followed by Dean Smith (UNC assistant for three seasons), Bill Guthridge (Smith's assistant for 30 seasons), Matt Doherty (played for Smith from 1980-84), Roy Williams (Smith's assistant from 1978-88) and Hubert Davis (played for Smith from 1988-92 and spent nine seasons on Williams' staff from 2012-21).
• He led the Nuggets to an NBA title in 2023, the only NBA championship in franchise history. The Nuggets went 16-4 in the post-season that year, including 4-1 against Miami in the NBA Finals. Malone led Denver to nine playoff series wins.
• Malone spent 12 years as an assistant with the New York Knicks (2001-05), Cleveland Cavaliers (2005-10), New Orleans Hornets (2010-11) and Golden State Warriors (2011-13). He was the lead assistant at both New Orleans under Monty Williams and Golden State under Mark Jackson.
• He coached three-time NBA Most Valuable Player Nikola Jokic in Denver and all-time scoring leader LeBron James while an assistant in Cleveland. His 2023 NBA championship team featured Jokic, Jamal Murray, Aaron Gordon, Michael Porter Jr. and Kentavious Caldwell-Pope.
• Jokic averaged 23.0 points, 11.6 rebounds and 7.6 assists and was a seven-time all-star in 10 seasons playing for Malone. He made first-team All-NBA five times and second-team twice.
• Among other notable players Malone coached in the NBA include Stephen Curry, Klay Thompson, Draymond Green, Harrison Barnes and Chris Paul. In addition to Barnes, he coached former Tar Heels Danny Green, Antawn Jamison and Jawad Williams. He coached 39 international players who represented 25 different nations.
• He also worked with some of the top coaches in the NBA, including Jeff Van Gundy, Lenny Wilkens, Mike Brown, Williams and Jackson.
• Malone's father, Brendan, was an NBA coach for nearly 30 seasons. He won NBA titles in 1989 and 1990 as a member of Chuck Daly's staff in Detroit.

ABLE ON JERRY WEST WATCH LIST

• Sophomore Matt Able was named to the preseason watch list for the Jerry West Award, presented annually by the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame to the best shooting guard in the country.

SCHEDULE NOTES

• In ACC play, the Tar Heels will play home-and-home games against Duke and Louisville.
• Carolina will host conference games against Cal, Georgia Tech, Miami, NC State, SMU, Stanford and Virginia and play at Boston College, Florida State, Notre Dame, Pitt, Syracuse, Virginia Tech and Wake Forest.
• Clemson is the ACC team the Tar Heels are not scheduled to play in the regular season this year. This will be the first season UNC and Clemson aren't scheduled to play in the regular season since 1950-51, which predated the formation of the ACC.
• For the first time since 1979, the Tar Heels will play NC State in a non-conference game in the regular season, when the teams meet Dec. 15, 2026, in the Tobacco Road Classic presented by Old Dominion Freight Line in Greensboro's First Horizon Coliseum (formerly the Greensboro Coliseum).
• Carolina and NC State will return to Greensboro for the second Tobacco Road Classic in December 2027.
• Arkansas comes to Chapel Hill on December 1 for the fourth edition of the SEC/ACC Challenge. The Tar Heels are 2-1 in the Challenge with a home win over Tennessee, home loss to Alabama (with Jarin Stevenson) and road win last season at Kentucky. This will be the 12th time the Tar Heels play the Razorbacks (UNC leads, 8-3) but the first time ever in Chapel Hill. The teams have played the previous 11 games in 11 different cities and never on the other team's campus.
• The Tar Heels return to Madison Square Garden in New York on December 19 to play Kentucky in the CBS Sports Classic. It is Carolina's fourth trip to the Garden in the last five seasons (beat Ohio State in 2022-23, lost to UConn in 2023-24 and beat UCLA in 2024-25). Carolina is 31-12 in MSG.

HENRY & ROSSER SIGN WITH CAROLINA

• DeMarcus Henry, a 6-7 forward from Charlotte, and CJ Rosser, a 6-10 forward from Rocky Mount, inked scholarship agreements with the Tar Heels in the November signing period.
• Henry attends AZ Compass Prep in Chandler, Ariz. where he plays for Coach Pete Kaffey.
• "We are excited that DeMarcus Henry is a Tar Heel, not only because he is one of the most talented players in the country, but because he's a North Carolina kid who I fell in love with the first time I saw him compete," says Carolina head coach Michael Malone.
– "He impacts the game at a high level on both ends of the floor. He has a tremendous motor and is one of the hardest working kids I've ever been around. He's a fierce competitor, an elite defender and a relentless rebounder. He is a dynamic offensive talent who plays in attack mode at all times. And he has the ability to make all of his teammates better.
– "DeMarcus embodies the North Carolina DNA we are looking for – a player who is competitive, has a great work ethic, values winning and takes tremendous pride in who he represents on and off the floor.
– "Our coaching staff has really enjoyed getting to know DeMarcus and his entire family. Chapel Hill and the Carolina community will make them feel at home. I know our fans are going to enjoy watching him play for the Tar Heels."

• Rosser attends Southeastern Prep in Orlando, Fla., where he plays for Coach David Peavy.
• "CJ's combination of size, length, athleticism and skill immediately separates him, even among the most talented players in the country," says Malone. "At 6-10, he has a unique and versatile offensive skill set. He can score at all three levels, and while he is known as an elite shooter who can stretch the floor, there is so much more to his game. He is comfortable putting the ball on the floor, creating for himself and others, all while playing with an attack mentality.
– "As dynamic as CJ can be offensively, I believe his versatility and upside on the defensive end may ultimately become his greatest strength. His length, mobility and athleticism give him the ability to guard multiple positions, be disruptive and impact the game in a number of ways. He has the physical tools and competitive instincts to become an elite two-way player.
– "CJ is also an outstanding teammate and a young man who continues to grow into his voice as a leader on and off the court. When you watch him compete with many of the best players in the country, you see his confidence, maturity and presence. He belongs in those environments, and he has shown he can impact winning while playing with other high-level players.
– "We love the fact CJ is from Rocky Mount. Having the opportunity to bring an elite North Carolina player back home to play for the Tar Heels is incredibly meaningful to us. We have thoroughly enjoyed getting to know CJ and his family throughout this process, and it is special knowing they will have the opportunity to be close to him and watch him compete in Chapel Hill.
– "We are going to recruit the best players in the country, and one of our goals is to keep the very best players from North Carolina at home. DeMarcus Henry and CJ Rosser represent exactly what we are looking for. They are incredibly talented players, but just as importantly, they are competitive, driven young men who represent what we expect Carolina Basketball to be.
– "We are thrilled to welcome CJ to the Carolina Basketball family."

HEAD COACH MICHAEL MALONE

Michael Malone, an NBA and college coaching veteran of 30-plus years, is in his first season as the head coach of the Tar Heels.

He was named the University of North Carolina's 21st head coach on April 7, 2026.

Malone led the Denver Nuggets to an NBA championship in 2023. He was an NBA head coach for 12 seasons, including 10 (2015-25) in Denver, where he set franchise records with 471 regular-season and 44 postseason wins and brought the city its first NBA title.

Denver averaged 50.3 wins over his last seven seasons, including a franchise record-tying 57 in 2023-24, 54 in 2018-19 and 53 in 2022-23.

He won a total of 510 regular-season games combining two seasons as head coach of the Sacramento Kings and 10 years in Denver. His teams produced five of the 10-winningest seasons in Nuggets' history and his 44 postseason wins are 20 more than any other Denver coach.

A native of Queens, N.Y., he spent 24 years in the NBA. In addition to a dozen seasons as a head coach, Malone spent 12 years as an assistant with the New York Knicks (2001-05), Cleveland Cavaliers (2005-10), New Orleans Hornets (2010-11) and Golden State Warriors (2011-13). He was the lead assistant at both New Orleans under Monty Williams and Golden State under Mark Jackson.

He coached three-time NBA Most Valuable Player Nikola Jokic in Denver and all-time scoring leader LeBron James while an assistant in Cleveland. His 2023 NBA championship team featured Jokic, Jamal Murray, Aaron Gordon, Michael Porter Jr. and Kentavious Caldwell-Pope.

Jokic averaged 23.0 points, 11.6 rebounds and 7.6 assists and was a seven-time all-star in 10 seasons playing for Malone. He made first-team All-NBA five times and second-team twice.

Among other notable players Malone coached in the NBA include Stephen Curry, Klay Thompson, Draymond Green, Harrison Barnes and Chris Paul. In addition to Barnes, he coached former Tar Heels Danny Green, Antawn Jamison and Jawad Williams. He coached 39 international players who represented 25 different nations.

He also worked with some of the top coaches in the NBA, including Jeff Van Gundy, Lenny Wilkens, Mike Brown, Williams and Jackson.

While in Cleveland, the Cavaliers played in the 2007 NBA Finals, set a franchise record with 67 wins in 2008-09 and led the league in wins in 2008-09 and 2009-10.

He finished in the top five in NBA Coach-of-the-Year voting twice, finishing third in 2019 and fifth in 2023. Malone was head coach in the 2019 NBA All-Star Game in Charlotte and 2023 NBA All-Star Game in Utah.

Denver won at least one playoff series five times and nine total under his leadership (the Nuggets had won five series in the previous 32 seasons).

In 2023, the Nuggets went 16-4 in the postseason, defeating Minnesota in five games, Phoenix in six, swept the Lakers and won the NBA championship with a 4-1 series win over the Miami Heat. Jokic averaged a triple double in the postseason and combined with Murray to become the first duo in NBA history to have 30-point triple-doubles in a Finals game. The Nuggets' offensive rating in the postseason was 119.5, the second-highest by an NBA champion this century. During the regular season, Denver was the only team in the NBA to shoot 50% from the floor (.504) and was second in the league in assists per game (28.9).

Under Malone, the Nuggets finished in the top 10 in the NBA in field goal percentage eight times, leading the league in 2022-23 and 2024-25 and finishing in the top five in each of his final six seasons (fourth-fourth-second-first-fourth-first). They also led the NBA in effective field goal shooting in 2021-22 and 2022-23 and were top 10 each year from 2020-25.

The Nuggets led the NBA in assists in 2024-25 and were in the top-five in assists in eight of his last nine seasons (second-fifth-second-fourth-sixth-third-second-third-first).

Denver also was top 10 in the NBA in rebounding six times, including second in 2016-17 and seventh and fourth the last two years.

The Nuggets were top-seven in the NBA in offensive efficiency in each of the last nine years, averaging the fifth-best offensive rating from 2017-25, and top 10 in net rating in five of the last seven seasons.

Before joining the New York Knicks in 2001, Malone spent seven seasons in the college coaching ranks, working at Oakland University under Greg Kampe, at Providence and Virginia under Pete Gillen, and Manhattan College, where he was the lead assistant under Bobby Gonzalez for two seasons.

His father, Brendan Malone, coached nearly 30 seasons in the NBA. He was an assistant coach in Detroit with head coach Chuck Daly when the Pistons won NBA titles in 1989 and 1990.

Malone was an assistant coach for the Canadian Men's Senior National Team for three years, helping Canada clinch a berth in the 2010 World Championships with a top-four finish in the 2009 FIBA Americas Championship.

He participated three times in the NBA's "Basketball Without Borders." He coached in global outreach camps in Argentina, Puerto Rico and Africa and served as an assistant coach for Team Africa in the NBA Africa Game in 2017.

Malone attended Seton Hall Prep in New Jersey, where he played for Coach Bob Farrell, Worcester Academy in Massachusetts for Tom Blackburn and Loyola (Md)., where he played point guard and graduated in 1994.

He and his wife, Jocelyn, have two daughters, Caitlin and Bridget, who is a sophomore at UNC, where she plays on the volleyball team.
